Notes On Private Sessions:

Serious students are urged to schedule additional private coaching sessions for purposes of continuity and growth. The voice is a muscle that must be stretched carefully and purposefully.

Private sessions are to be scheduled separately (but may take place near), select weekends, and a combination of in-person and online sessions is suggested for purposes of stretching them out. Additional private sessions beyond the norm will be given the same consideration.

Please attach current resume and headshot with your application if you have them. They are, however, not required and will be developed as a part of the Triple Threat Troupe package.
